2.3. Contrasting

Read the story below and answer the questions that follow.

The two friends

Mwiza and Mugisha were best friends. They both loved spending time together, even though they lived in very different places.

Mwiza lived in the busy city of Kigali. There were many cars, tall buildings, and bright lights. He enjoyed using computers and playing games on his phone.

Mugisha lived in the quiet hills of Musanze. He loved listening to birds sing and helping his parents on the farm. There were green fields, fresh air, and lots of animals.

During the school holiday, they visited each other. When Mugisha went to Kigali, he was amazed by the tall buildings and busy streets, but he missed the fresh air and quiet of the village.

When Mwiza visited Musanze, he enjoyed running in the big open fields and seeing cows and goats, but he missed the fast life and technology of the city.

In the end, Mwiza and Mugisha learned something important: the city and the village are different, but each place is special in its own way.

Questions

1. Who are the people in the story? Where do they live?
2. What shows that both Mwiza and Mugisha liked their home places?
3. What can we learn from Mwiza and Mugisha about appreciating differences?
4. Why is it important to visit and learn about other places or ways of life?

Activity 2.3.2

Work in pairs. Take turns to talk about two places or things you know that are different. Use words like although, while, whereas, but.

2.4. Using reference materials

Reference books are special books that help us find important information. They make learning easier!

A dictionary helps us understand the meaning of words, how to spell them, and how to say them correctly. An encyclopedia gives us detailed facts about many topics, like animals, history, and science. An atlas is a book full of maps. It shows countries, cities, and natural features like rivers and mountains.

A thesaurus helps us improve our writing by giving us other words that mean the same (synonyms) or the opposite (antonyms). A textbook explains lessons clearly and helps us understand what we are learning in class. We use reference books in different ways. Sometimes we use a dictionary before writing a story. We may read an encyclopedia in the library to learn about wildlife. During social studies, we use an atlas to find places on a map. We read textbooks in the morning, at school, or at home when we revise.

When we use reference books regularly, we become smarter and better at our schoolwork. These books are our learning friends!

Questions

1. What is a reference book?
2. Name three types of reference books mentioned.
3. How do pupils use reference books?

Why is it important to use reference books regularly?

Grammar

Passive

voice

Passive voice is when the action is done to the subject, not by the subject.

Passive voice focuses on what is done, not who does it.

Structure of Passive Voice: be (am / is / are / was / were) + past participle (done, eaten, used, found...)

Examples:

1. Fish are caught and eaten.
2. Water is collected from lakes and rivers. (We focus on the water, not who collects it.)
3. Rain is formed when water is heated.
4. Mountains are visited by tourists. (Tourists visit mountains.)
5. Trees are protected in Rwanda. (We focus on trees.)

Activity 4.2.4

A. Underline the passive voice in each sentence below:

1. Clean water is found in the mountains.
2. Trees are planted to avoid soil.
3. Wild animals are protected in national parks.
4. Water is collected from lakes and rivers.

B. Rewrite the sentences in passive voice (Start with the words in brackets):

1. People catch fish.
→ Fish are caught (by people)
2. Tourists visit the mountains.
→ _____ (the mountains)
3. Farmers use water for farming.
→ _____ (water)
4. The government protects the forests.
→ _____ (the forests)
5. People collect water from rivers.
→ _____ (water)

Sentence is said to be in the active voice when it starts with the subject (doer)

On the other hand, sentences in the passive voice begin with the object (receiver)

The active can be changed to the passive if the active form of the sentence has both a subject and an object

Example:

Annet plays (cannot be change)

The passive voice is possible in all tenses. However, if the subject in the active voice is not specific, we don't mention it in the passive voice.

Someone beat Amos (active)

Amos was beaten. (passive)

The present simple

The passive form of the present simple tense is used in the order below

Subject+ Is/am/are + a past participle verb+ by +Agent.

Example

1. I love Judith (active)

Judith is loved by me. (passive)

2. Cars carry people. (active)

People are carried by cars. (passive)

3. The doctor warns me against smoking cigarettes. (active)

I am warned against smoking cigarettes by the doctor (passive)

Grammar

Comparatives and superlatives

1. Comparative adjectives

We use comparatives to compare two things.

- Add -er to short words:
→ big → bigger, tall → taller, deep → deeper
- Use “more” with long words:
→ beautiful → more beautiful Examples:
- Nyungwe is bigger than Gishwati.
- The view of Lake Kivu is more beautiful than the view of Lake Muhazi.

2. Superlative adjectives

We use superlatives to say one thing is the most of all.

- Add -est to short words:
→ tall → tallest, high → highest

- Use “most” with long words:
→ beautiful → most beautiful Examples:
- Mount Karisimbi is the highest mountain.
- Akagera is the largest park in Rwanda.
- The view of Lake Kivu is the most beautiful view in Rwanda. Activity 5.2.3

4 Length of Nyabarongo River	297 kilometers
5 Depth of Lake Kivu	480 meters
6 Area of Nyungwe Forest	1,019 square kilometers
7 National Parks 4 (Akagera, Nyungwe, Volcanoes, Gishwati–Mukura)

1. Choose 3 or 4 facts you find interesting.
2. Write one short paragraph (5–7 sentences) using these facts to describe Rwanda.
3. Try to begin your writing like this:

Rwanda is a small and beautiful country. It has many amazing places and features..

Sample Paragraph (for guidance):

Rwanda is a small and beautiful country. It has a population of about 13 million people. The biggest mountain is Mount Karisimbi. It is 4,507 meters high. The Nyabarongo River is the longest river in the country. I also learned that Lake Kivu is 480 meters deep. I love learning about my country!

Degrees of comparison

There are three degrees of comparison:

- i. Positive degree: it shows no comparison
- ii. Comparative degree: it compares two people, things, animals or place
- iii. Superlative degree: it compares more than two people, things, animals or place

Formation of comparative and superlative degree

We use adjectives while forming comparative and superlative degree.

A. SHORT ADJECTIVES

Short adjectives are adjectives made up of one or two syllables.

Rule: We normally add “-er” for comparatives and “-est” for superlatives.

Examples:

No	Positive degree	Comparative degree	Superlative degree
1	Tall	Taller	Tallest
2	Short	Shorter	Shortest
3	High	Higher	Highest
4	Small	Smaller	Smallest
5	Kind	Kinder	Kindest
6	Long	Longer	Longest
7	Fast	Faster	Fastest
8	Smooth	Smother	Smoothest
9	Bright	Brighter	Brightest
10	Smart	Smarter	Smartest
12	Clever	Cleverer	Cleverest
12	Cold	Colder	Coldest
13	Great	Greater	Greatest

14	Loud	louder	loudest
----	------	--------	---------

NOTICE: 1. If the adjective ends in “-e”, we add “r” for comparatives and “-st” for superlative.

Examples:

No	Positive degree	Comparative degree	Superlative degree
1	Wise	Wiser	Wisest
2	Large	Larger	Largest
3	Simple	Simpler	Simplest
4	Late	Later	Latest
5	Brave	Braver	Bravest
6	Safe	Safer	Safest
7	Nice	Nicer	Nicest
8	Cute	Cuter	Cutest
9	Huge	Huger	Hugest
10	Strange	Stranger	Strangest
11	Fine	Finer	finest

2. if the adjective has a “consonant + single vowel + consonant”, we double the last letter.

Examples:

No	Positive degree	Comparative degree	Superlative degree
1	Hot	Hotter	Hottest
2	Big	Bigger	Biggest
3	Thin	Thinner	Thinnest
4	Fat	Fatter	Fattest
5	Sad	Sadder	Saddest
6	Mad	Madder	Maddest
7	Wet	Wetter	Wettest
8	Slim	Slimmer	Slimmest

3. if the adjective ends in “-y”, when “y” follows a consonant, we change “y” to “i” and add “er” for comparatives and “-est” for superlatives.

Examples:

No	Positive degree	Comparative degree	Superlative degree
1	Crazy	Crazier	Craziest
2	Busy	Busier	Busiest
3	Noisy	Noisier	Noisiest
4	Easy	Easier	Easiest
5	Lucky	Luckier	Luckiest
6	Sunny	Sunnier	Sunniest
7	Funny	Funnier	Funniest
8	Juicy	Juicier	Juiciest
9	Angry	Angrier	Angriest
10	Ugly	Uglier	Ugliest
11	Lazy	Lazier	Laziest
12	Greedy	Greedier	Greediest

Use of “THAN” and “THE”

a) Than: is used in comparative sentence.

Examples

- i.* Her house is larger than ours. ii. This cow is fatter than that one.
- iii.* Olive is nicer than Ange.
- iv.* P5 A pupils are noisier than P5 B.

b) The: is used in superlative sentence.

Examples:

- i.* Mount Karisimbi is the largest mountain in Rwanda.
- ii.* She bought the latest version.
- iii.* July is the sunniest month of the year.
- iv.* He is the biggest boy in our class.

B. LONG ADJECTIVES

Long adjectives are adjectives made up of more than two syllables.

Examples:

No	Positive degree	Comparative degree	Superlative degree
1	Attractive	more attractive	most attractive
2	Important	more important	most important
3	Famous	more famous	most famous
4	Beautiful	more beautiful	most beautiful
5	Handsome	more handsome	most handsome
6	Wonderful	more wonderful	most wonderful
7	Comfortable	more comfortable	most comfortable
8	Interesting	more interesting	most interesting
9	Dangerous	more dangerous	most dangerous
10	Careful	more careful	most careful
11	Careless	more careless	most careless

i. Gasabo is the most populated district in Rwanda.

- i. Lake Kivu is more attractive than Lake Ihema.
- ii. Nelson Mandela was the most famous African president.

C. IRREGULAR ADJECTIVES

Irregular adjectives are adjectives which do not follow rules.

Examples:

No	Positive degree	Comparative degree	Superlative degree
1	Good	Better	Best
2	Bad	Worse	Worst
3	Little	Less	Least

Unit 8: Crafts in Rwanda

8.1. Describing what people made in the past

Traditional crafts in Rwanda

Long ago, people in Rwanda used to make many things by hand.

They used to make tools, home items, and decorations. One special art was Imigongo. Women used to make it with cow dung. They used to paint it with red, black, and white colours. The designs used to be circles and lines. People also used to make baskets, bowls, and mats from papyrus. These were colourful and used to be given as gifts.

Another craft was pottery. People used to make pots and cups from clay for cooking and storing water. They used to use wood to make drums, knife handles, and statues. Some even used to make water bottles from dried gourds. Women used to make jewellery with beads and seeds. They used to wear it on special days.

All these crafts used to show the skills and culture of Rwandan people.

Questions

1. Which objects did traditional Rwandans use to make?
2. What is “Imigongo”?

3. What materials were used to make jewellery?
